Triumfant Announces Adam Berlew as Senior Vice President of Strategy and Business Development

Rockville, MD—December 16, 2008 -- Triumfant®, the industry leader in change analysis software, announces that Adam Berlew has joined the company as Senior Vice President of Strategy and Business Development. With more than 20 years of experience in successful corporate development, sales and marketing, Adam will be responsible for establishing new business avenues for Triumfant through various channels and partnerships.

The unique capabilities of the Triumfant platform makes the solution a perfect fit for integrator partners as well as a complement to the offerings of software and hardware vendors. Triumfant's ability to detect undesirable changes and unexpected conditions in endpoint computers and then synthesize a remediation to repair the problem allows partners to imbed a wealth of new functionality into their offerings such as anomaly based malware detection, Green IT power management and configuration and compliance management. For example, integrator partners can use the Triumfant platform to ensure that endpoint machines comply with the baseline capabilities and configuration settings required to broadly deploy an application across a customer's organization, therefore eliminating potentially huge deployment delays and saving considerable time, money and effort in preparing the machines for installation.

"The power and flexibility of the Triumfant platform allows it to deliver exceptional value to our partners and enables them to readily integrate it into their offerings," said Berlew. "I look forward to helping potential partners understand the unique and innovative nature of our product and how it can help them create differentiation in their market."

Berlew brings a diverse background in the High-Tech and Telecommunications industries to his new role. Before joining Triumfant, Berlew was at Dell, Inc. where he served in a number of roles during his tenure, including Sales, Brand, and Product Marketing. Berlew also served as a Corporate Development and Marketing Executive at Prodigy, Inc. Additionally, Berlew worked as a Consulting Manager for the Boston Consulting group and as an Executive in a number of telecommunications companies. Berlew holds a B.A. in Development Economics from Brown University and an M.B.A from the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania.

"We believe that our product can add tremendous value to a wide variety of partners, and Adam is perfectly suited to helping us build strong, lasting relationships with these partners," said John Prisco, President and CEO, Triumfant. "Adam excels at aligning our capabilities with the needs and offerings of potential partners to really complement and extend their business. Combining Adam's team with the growing momentum of our direct sales efforts strongly positions Triumfant for success as we enter the New Year."
