

Former CIA Chief Technology Officer Joins Triumfant's Advisory Board

Bob Flores Brings Extensive Expertise Aligning Technology With Real-World Agency Requirements

Rockville, MD – June 9, 2009 – Triumfant®, creator of patent-pending software that automatically detects, analyzes and remediates unexpected changes and conditions at the endpoint, today announced the addition of Bob Flores, former Chief Technology Officer of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), to the Triumfant Advisory Board. The Advisory Board provides the Triumfant executive team with valuable insights to ensure that Triumfant is best positioned to meet the needs of the company's target markets and deliver solutions that provide real, incremental value for endpoint security.

Flores is the Founder, President, and CEO of Applicology Incorporated, an independent consulting firm specializing in information technology and cyber security issues. Prior to starting Applicology, Flores spent 31 years at the CIA and held various positions in the Directorate of Intelligence, Directorate of Support, and the National Clandestine Service. Toward the end of his career at the CIA, Flores spent three years as the CIO's Chief Technology Officer where he was responsible for ensuring that the Agency's technology investments matched the needs of its mission. During this time Flores was also the Agency's representative on several government-wide information sharing committees and councils. In addition to his senior level leadership and management positions, Flores's career included assignments in applications programming, training and education, contract and project management, and both line and staff management roles at various levels of the Agency. Flores earned several Exceptional Performance Awards throughout his career at CIA. Flores holds Bachelor and Master of Science degrees in Statistics from Virginia Tech, and is a Life Member of the Virginia Tech Rescue Squad and of the McLean, VA Volunteer Fire Department.

"We are honored to have someone of Flores's credentials join the Triumfant Advisory Board and we look forward to leveraging his knowledge and expertise," said John Prisco, CEO of Triumfant. "Flores is a veteran of battling the kinds of malicious attacks Triumfant excels at detecting and remediating, so his experiences will be invaluable as we continue to gain momentum in the market."
